

Adam,

After you were expelled from My Home, you chose to build a house of your own. You chose to make a separate family. But your family was born outside of My Home. All of your children were born in prison with you. They had no choice in this regard. And they forever fight with each other for a better place in this prison. The only choice they had was to learn from your mistake and undo what you did and choose to return to Me in repentance. Many, many generations passed. I sent many messengers to invite your children to repent and return to Me. But it was not until Jesus that My invitation was completely received. Finally, one of your children heard My invitation and responded perfectly. He finally recognized and understood My invitation and acted upon it. He chose to undo your error, Adam. And in so doing, he inherited your place as "firstborn" of My Family on Earth. He leads the Great Exodus out of your prison, Adam. And all those who follow him are led out of your prison and into My Kingdom, My World, My Home. Jesus had 12 disciples who committed themselves to follow him in this endeavour. But of those 12, one was qualified to be called Jesus' "firstborn", the one to receive the double-portion. No one can follow Jesus without following his disciple. Anyone who claims to follow Jesus without following his disciple is forever deceiving himself and perpetually remains in prison far from Me.

God.
