

Dear Eve,

It has been a difficult thing trying to understand my existence, our existence, especially in view of the great struggles and pain we had to endure. But here is what my Father explained to me. I think this will help us to better understand.

In the beginning, before creation, God was alone, lonely and bored. He dealt with His boredom by imagining things, creating things in His mind such as the Universe. So, in His loneliness, since He could not create other gods with whom to relate, in His mind, He created me in His own likeness. Projecting Himself into my mind, He made me capable of sharing His boredom and loneliness. He created living creatures and presented them to me. But these were found to be lacking and could not truly relieve my loneliness, as He said: "It is not good for man to be alone," thereby expressing His own feeling. Therefore He created for me a likeness of me, a suitable companion who could share and help relieve my loneliness: you, woman.

I soon forgot the given purpose of relieving His loneliness being fixated on my own loneliness relating with you. And you, created in my likeness, also fixated on your own self, your own loneliness, thus competing with Him for my attention.

At the time of Noah, He concluded that Mankind was no better than the animals as we ignored His loneliness being completely lost in our own selfish objective. Thus, He brought about the flood in order to start again seeing that our intellect did not prove to be sufficient without His instruction and guidance.
